

Talk about the Earth Plane and how it is Utilised

By Estelle Roberts 2012

So long as the Earth Plane exists you will always have a degree of negativity on it, but don't be upset about it because you are spirit, you are not a part of the Earth Plane. The Earth Plane is merely a very small part of your existence and therefore it has its utilitarian use and need and no more than that, so do not blow the importance of the Earth Plane out of proportion, but the people of the Earth Plane all do that do they not? They think that this life, as you call it, is the one and only life that you live, a life that exists and then you get enlightened and then you know that there is more beyond this life but then you still want to change and make the Earth Plane like the 7th plane. How ridiculous a thought is that? If the Earth Plane was like the 7th plane the Earth Plane wouldn't exist, so it is a bit of oxymoron is it not? So whilst the Earth Plane exists you will always have the negativity, you will always have the problems which exist. After all that's why the Earth Plane was created. It wasn't created to be heaven on earth. It was created to be earth on hell, or hell on earth, because you've got so many things that can go wrong don't you?

Everything, but that's the beauty of the Earth Plane. That's the big plus, so don't look at it as a negative, it is a positive. It's a positive because you can utilise all these negativities and overcome them and if you've overcome them then you have advanced in purity, you have cleansed and got rid of that little bit of germ that was infecting your being. So therefore don't criticise the fact that the negativity exists because the negativity will always exist so long as the Earth Plane exists.

And what do the people of the Earth Plane do? They are trying so hard to leave it. They want to go to another planet. Do you think the Heavenly Host spent so much time creating an environment just so as you could leave it behind? It is a folly. It is alright we pander to that folly. We allow them to muse and in this musing there is what comes with it, a greater understanding because you now are aware that you are part of a universe and your universe is part of the universal and within your universe there are countless millions of galaxies and this knowledge was masked until the quest to look forward and look out. It is not wrong to look out, but with this understanding do not get it in the wrong context because you are part of the universal.

But it is folly that men can live and exist without gravity.

Man can live and exist without gravity. All you have to do is lose your physical body and once you've lost your physical body all sorts of things open up to your vista.

But he wants to do it while he's in the physical.

Well he's silly then isn't he? How stupid idiotic can he be?

I think they know it because science must know that you have a problem if you live too long in space. Apparently the astronauts had a bit of a problem where their muscles turned to jelly.

As Red Cloud advised you on an earlier talk, the physical body requires gravity for its good health, for its function. It has been developed and constructed in such a way that gravity forms are very important part of its mechanism. And that's all it is. It's just one big machine. It's very strange thing when you look at it isn't it? That you are walking around in a machine. You are a being who is contained within the physical body for a specific purpose so don't be misguided, don't denigrate the physical body that you have because after all you did choose it. Look in the mirror if you want to blame somebody. Don't blame the Great Master he didn't have a hand in it. He might have created the possibility or the functionality of the physical being but you chose which one you were going to be here. So don't blame us! We get blamed for so many things you know. Yes everything that goes wrong, it's all our fault, but everything that goes right is man's good perception on how they behave is it not? But there's a hurricane, there's an earthquake, there's a war and it's all God's fault. He must be a nasty man mustn't he? He allows all these negative things to happen. How can he be a God of Love when all these nasty things happen and he – it's all his fault!

I've rarely heard people attribute love to God. Fear yes but very rarely do they actually attribute love to God. It's usually vengeful because if you don't believe you will be sent to hell.

Yes it's so wrong isn't it!

I think it's indoctrination through whatever church people attend.

How do you think they used the lions in the days of the Roman Empire when they used to feed the Christians to them. They used to starve the lions and then because they were starving they would attack and eat anything.

Quite cruel isn't it?

I was about to say the very same thing. Man is very cruel but we've got a long way ahead now. Now we just drop bombs and then you put the gas and nerve problems into the atmosphere. It is a problem that we have. Every time we give and I say we, I am really big noting myself aren't I, when the powers that be give the lessons, the understanding of the utilisation of a power and at times it is done with the best will, but man being man has to use it as a means of attack, a means of destruction. We gave and there I go again, we, we gave the information on how to utilise electricity, how to harness, how to generate it and what's the first thing man did? They created the electric chair. We thought that this would be a power which could not be misused. It just shows you the folly of our thinking doesn't it. Any power can be misused if it is put into the wrong hands, but there will always be the majority who utilise it in the correct manner.

There's an awful lot of power which abounds the Earth Plane which you haven't even touched the surface of. People haven't thought about it.

Harness it as an energy form?

Exactly, but have you ever thought why the majority of the earth's surface is covered with water?

To use it as Hydro Power

No you can't use hydro power from the ocean. You need waterfall, you need a dropping of the water to generate and move the turbines do you not? But the power of the wave can be utilised, which is the power of the moon and the drawing of the moon or the attraction of the moon on the water. Like a big magnet really isn't it?

Estelle's insight was cut short by another question.
