

Estelle talks about the Nazarene, Previous Memories, Message Giving

By Estelle Roberts 2012

I was tuned in to a discussion our medium was having with his guide. We do listen in sometimes. We eavesdrop. Don't tell anybody but we do and what they were talking about was the perception of the various faiths and their perception of heaven. The discussion went a little bit on to the realms of the Nazarene when he was nailed to the cross and that when he came back, he came back from the dead and therefore he came back to save the world, to take the world forward. But they didn't take that thought one step further and I'm saying that people didn't, is that if the Nazarene came back from the dead it meant that he wasn't dead didn't it? It meant that he continued his life and therefore he didn't come back from the dead. He came back to prove that there was no death. That life was continuous, but that thought doesn't enter into the Scriptures does it?

They think it is only for the Nazarene, but not for them.

Exactly, but it's silly isn't it because it's illogical because if you believe that the Nazarene came back and when he came back he was spirit, because he was not alive anymore, and therefore he had to be spirit but he was still solid. Therefore if you want to join me in heaven, and he did say that, didn't he? He said that to the thieves who were alongside him "today you will join me in paradise" and that was a blow to the general masses wasn't it? You have these common thieves going to join him in paradise and you've got to be good before you can get there and yet they can go automatically. They have a free pass. Almost seems unfair doesn't it? But what did it mean in reality? It meant they were all going to the Summerland. The fact that the Nazarene then moved forward very quickly isn't something that was discussed.

That is something that people don't fully appreciate, you know, the very fact that we might have come from higher planes, that when we pass over, when we leave the physical body and we come over here, we have to come and be taught because we don't have all the knowledge that we had over the eons of time instantly embedded into our brain. Just imagine the brain explosion if you just suddenly got all this memory and knowledge flooding back into the brain. It would explode! And therefore you have to be taken gently and that's the job of your guide, your friend. They gradually introduce all these new things to you and if you are accepting of the teachings and the knowledge then you will ingest, if that's the right word, the knowledge far quicker and then the memories can then be slowly instilled back into your consciousness. It's always there. It's in your subconscious but it's masked.

It's the same thing, which I've always thought dreadfully unfair, is that when you come to the Earth Plane you don't remember anything. It just seems so unfair doesn't it? You have got to start all over again but you don't really because when you come you still have the level of love and compassion as part of your being, as part of your personage. That is something that you bring back with you even though your memory has gone, the person you are, the level of love that you have attained, is still very much part of your being and therefore you can then work upon it from that level. It would be very unfair if you all had to start from the bottom rung again wouldn't it, because you'd all be doing the same lessons all over again. You would never leave kindergarten would you and that wouldn't do would it because the Earth Plane has a limited life. It is something that people have a difficulty in understanding that the Earth Plane has been constructed or has been utilised to be more correct. There are a lot of Earth Planes around you know. You're not unique. We are not unique, but you are unique for the particular evolvement, for the particular bands who utilised the Earth Plane. When you get higher up you can and I don't know if I'm talking out of school here but you can then elect to be regenerated in another sphere. That sounds very out there doesn't it?

So what would be the purpose?

Different vibrations, different levels of understanding, but the process and the people are still the same. You don't change. You don't think just because you might be brought up in another galaxy that you change that dramatically. Your physical appearance might change because you might require a different set of...

A vehicle.

A different vehicle, that's very good I like that. You need a different vehicle to exist in that sphere, but the being within is still the same. It is just a different covering.

When we wandered off the straight and narrow, obviously to wander off the straight and narrow we had to be out there helping people. We were out there helping people and if we were there helping people there had to be people to help didn't there? People don't think about that. They don't extend their thinking beyond the realms of the Earth Plane. Once again it's a closed mindedness. People have the knowledge, even people in the spiritualist churches and hierarchy, or they call themselves the hierarchy just because they feel that they have elevated themselves. More often than not they are... I will not degenerate my thinking, this is not what I should do, I apologise for even contemplating doing it, but they are not as high as they like to think they are, we should say, but they do feel so important. They get wrapped up with their own little ego and importance.

We should send Swaff. Yes he will put them in their place but he won't. He's really just a big pussycat as well you know. He likes to come over all hard and angry and he's not. I liked him a lot. He was a good friend of mine did you know that? Oh he was. He came with me many times. He was my introducer on the stage when we did the Albert Hall. He was my MC. Yes when we went around the various establishments, halls in Reading or York he would go there and tell the people “think of the most difficult questions you can” and I thought, Swaff shut up! You are putting me on the spot aren’t you, but he did and I must admit I never worried about it once because I knew that the connection was there. That’s what you’ve got to do, you know, you’ve got to have faith and trust in what you are receiving because we can all be wrong but as soon as you start thinking about it, thinking about the fact that you could be wrong, then you really muck it up. You make a total hash of it because you’re thinking then starts interfering and you’re not allowed to do that. You have to give out exactly what has been said whether you like it or not. I mean if somebody says “I have Aunt Mary here who thinks you’re the biggest bitch out” that’s exactly what you have to put out. I could say “I have Aunt Mary here and she didn’t really like you” and they say well that doesn’t sound like Aunt Mary does it. But if you say “I have Aunt Mary and she says you’re the bitch”, then they say that’s exactly right. That’s why you can’t molly coddle, you can’t put it in cotton wool.

When you said that Swaff told them to think of hard questions to ask you so you actually answered some questions as well as just giving evidential.

Oh yes, but the questions that they had were normally about their relations, about various people who had passed on in the area and those sort of things.

So they weren't asking about the Summerland?

Oh no. They weren’t that far advanced in their thinking dear girl. To have that sort of thinking would mean that they would have accepted the spiritual teachings and they were still in kindergarten. They hadn’t gone that far. When we were in our home circle that was different. Then Red Cloud and many others came through and gave some wonderful talks, but when we had people who came to see us they didn’t come to hear the talks, they came for evidential proof that their loved ones who had passed over were still around. So that’s what we did and then we gave them facts about their lives which nobody else could know. We could tell you facts about your life but there’s no point. Why would we waste our time? You already have an acceptance level and therefore why would we bother with such trivia, because that’s all it is, it’s just trivia. What does it matter?

I was talking about the way we degenerated, the way we should think about things as we are, not as we were wasn’t I? But we all do that don’t we? We dig up the past. You can’t change the past so what’s the point in digging it up.

I think they just review it.

But they don’t use it to review dear so they? They do it to attack and they forget about all the good things. But that’s strange you know, when you pass over, when you die, ooh there’s that word, you die. When you die they all go to your funeral and everybody says nice things about you. You might have been the biggest vagabond out but if you listen to the people at the funeral service you’d think you were a saint. But why can’t you think that when you are on the Earth Plane. Why can’t you think good of people while they are alive? I mean you go to the funeral parlour and there’s all these flowers and I bet that individual never received one while they were on the Earth Plane. I mean what good is it to them now they they’ve gone?

It's called paying respects.

No, it's making somebody rich. The florist. Not really paying respect because if you paid respect you would honour the person when they were with you. All you are really doing is making yourself feel good, you feel that you have done the right thing, but that's true isn't it? How often do we do that? We do the right thing for appearances because we feel we should. We all do it though don't we? We go forward and we do the right thing and there's no point in doing the right thing unless you have the right mental attitude. If you are just doing it for show... If you are doing it because of a genuine desire then that's different.

Estelle Roberts

April 2012