Listen to Advice from Spirit to help you Advance

By Estelle Roberts 2012

People say the butterfly is a truly beautiful thing but it isn't really because if you actually look at the butterfly itself, ignore the wings, I mean the actual butterfly itself is an ugly looking thing. It's got great big eyes and long legs. It looks most ungainly but I when it opens its wings it's a magnificent sight and that's the same thing when you advance and you come out of your cocoon. You advance you know and you come out of your cocoon and then you move forward into the Summerland and you think your wings have truly spread. Then you realise that the cocoon that you have there is something that has to be dispensed with and then you open your wings again and you think that you are a truly magnificent being. But then you're not. I've been really privileged. I have been up to the 5th and 6th planes but I was taken once, I was taken up to the 7th plane. Just, just for a peek and if you could truly see the wondrous people, the wondrous beings who are there, the love which emanates from everybody you meet, it really does make you feel so unclean. I say that in the truly humble way because they're so white. You know whiter than Persil white. You know really, really, really white. Do they have Persil out here? We did in England didn't we?

Yes we did.

We had Persil white.

Because Persil washes whiter. It is funny that people, when they are on the Earth Plane, they think that just because you've left the Earth Plane that you suddenly become very nice. You suddenly have it all taken away, all the anger that was in there. Why on earth would the Great Master, the Heavenly Host, do that? If they could do that, no they could do that, but if they wanted to do that there would be no need for all the planes or the earth or anything else would there?

They could have taken us back long, long time, I was going to say years ago but it is more than years ago, it's eons ago. They could have just scooped us up. Think we were a bit of soup wouldn't you? Scooped us up, but they didn't. They said you've got into the hole, you have to get yourself out but we won't ask you to do it by yourself, we will put our hand out and show you the way. You don't have to go up the steep path because if you go to the other side of the hole there's a stepladder and you can climb out of it on the stepladder, but if your eyes are blinkered you won't see the stepladder and you will keep trying to go up the steep slope and what happens when you try and climb the steep slope, you fall down, and that's what life is about.

If you listen to the advice that you are given then you can take the stepladder, but if you don't, you can persevere with the problems that you have and the problems that you're going to get in the future and they won't get any better, so it's a bit silly not to listen isn't it? I mean if you listen life actually becomes easier. Seems strange doesn't it that just because you have learnt to live in love and harmony with the world that your life becomes easier. Does it become easier because your situation has changed? No, it becomes easier because you have accepted the situation and life as it is.

We have talked about it before, accepting the situation. It's the golden rule book and if you don't know the rules, how do you know where to go. If you don't know you've got to be good, you can't then be condemned because you're not, but although you can't be condemned you haven't moved forward. So just because you didn't know you hadn't got to be good and you're bad, you're not condemned because you're bad, but equally you don't move forward.

Yes and isn't that so true with so many things that we do in our lives. We get told what to do.

And yet we resist.

And then we say "yes alright we'll do it". But what have you been told? When we ask you to do something it's not for our good. I mean we don't benefit. We have to give you reminders and if you just have faith in the Great Master and the Heavenly Host, or as White Eagle says Our Father in Heaven. I don't know why it has to be Our Father, why couldn't it be Our Mother in Heaven?

I think because when it was actually said the Earth Plane was very male dominated...

It was. You think ladies are downtrodden now. You should have been around when the Nazarene was there.

It must have been dreadful.

It wasn't dreadful. They didn't know any other way. It was accepted as normality. And because it was accepted as normality people just lived in that way.

There must have been, because there always is, one or two who are outside this that know this is not right but they're trapped.

They're rebels aren't they? That comes down to your teachings, that you have to do what you accept as being correct and if you can't accept it then you have to do something about it and if you can't do something about it, you have to accept it. The ladies who are in that scenario, who can't accept it and can't do anything about it, they're the ones who have problems because if they accepted it there wouldn't be a problem. It's only because they try and break out that there is a problem and that's true with everything in life isn't it? If you accept things the way they are it then makes your living so much easier.

Do you think that it would also become a habit, like lethargy, that you just don't bother?

No you have to keep moving forward because how do you know you can't change it unless you try. You have to try and change it but if you try and change it with every essence of your being and you can't, then you must accept it.

I can accept that.

Well I am pleased! You've had the wisdom of Estelle and you accept it. I feel really humble, I really do.

Well it just makes sense because otherwise people might say "I won't try to do anything."

No you have to keep trying. You have to move forward and you can't move forward unless you try.

You look at the young man Christopher Reeve. He could have given up and said “this is too hard. I am a quadriplegic. It is something I have to accept and I will just lay back and let it all happen until I'm ready to fall into the ground”. It would've been so easy for him to do that wouldn't it? But he had the strength and the determination to change things as much as he can. I mean yes he had the financial capacity to do it but the financial capacity did not give him the determination. It didn't give him the strength of character shall we say, because there are a lot of people who have been in similar situations who had the financial capacity to do something about it and have just sunk into a hole, a hole of despair and that's so true in so many things that we do in life isn't it. You want things to be as you want them, not the way they are.

I could point to any one of us and say that there are problems which you have to overcome, none of us are exempt. We all have that part of our lives which we have to go forward with, not because we necessarily like what we have to do. When I was asked to come down to the Earth Plane I knew the, sorry but I have to put it this way, I was apologising before I started just in case they got onto me. I knew the discomfort which was involved in coming – well that was one of the reasons I didn't want to come down, I'm not a masochist you know! But having been with you and you're such lovely people and I mean that truly, that it made it all worthwhile and that's what we do you see. You look at your problem and you analyse what you have to go through to help that problem and if there is a benefit and the benefit isn't necessarily a benefit to you, but a benefit for other people, and that's really far more beneficial to your being than it being a benefit to you, because if you can come to the Earth Plane and help somebody, then you are actually benefitting because it helps with your being.

But in life we have to do what is best or the best that we can because that's what it's all for. You can't compare the best you can do to the best somebody else can do, because who knows whether your best is better than their best. It's merely a perception on your part is it not and who are you to judge? Who are you to judge whether what you're doing is good or not. And the answer to that is simple, you can't. You just do what you consider is the best that you can do and if you do what you are bid then your rewards will be tenfold, but you can't do them for self glorification, if you do them for that reason your rewards will be nil, because it's all down to why you carry out a deed. You've been told that so many times haven't you? It's the thought behind it, because the same deed, one can be totally wrong and the other can be totally right.

I'm not an advocate for non-chastisement of our younger generation. A good slap on the bum never hurt anybody, but it has to be done with love, not with any anger in your being. If you do that then the youngster will understand what is right and what is wrong, because if you don't have parameters you don't have lines in the sand so to speak, then you don't know when you can cross them do you, or when you shouldn't cross them.
