

Communications in Picture Form

By Maurice Barbanell 2011

Are you open to questions today?

Of course I am open to questions.

You were saying that you communicate by picture form. Is it possible, and I'm sure that people in the spirit world work on it all the time, that there are different ways of communicating with people on the Earth Plane. Would it be possible to project that thought maybe on a screen on earth then you won't need a medium? Or isn't that possible?

It is impossible to create a facility upon the physical world which can only be done within the astral world.

OK so that's not possible.

Although it would be far easier for us if this was the case. Unfortunately we have to work within the limitations of the material world.

So when you communicate in the spirit world your thoughts actually create the picture?

Correct.

So does that picture only relate to the person you are communicating with?

It relates to anybody who wishes to pick it up. The communication when you are talking one to one means that the thought pattern between the two individuals are in concurrence with one another and therefore it is exactly the same as we are communicating verbally. When you eventually return to the Summerland, communication initially is done in exactly in the same form as you have now. It is done in a verbal form. Then as the teachings you are receiving become higher, more evolved, then you start communicating in the plain of thought and the thought is still conducted in exactly the same way as the verbal means, the only difference is it is then done mentally. It is only from then that we communicate in picture form and if you communicate in a picture form you create a story and it is that whole story which is transmitted rather than just the word. It's very difficult to make people comprehend the communication in that form because it is totally different to anything that you could perceive. You can relate it in a small way to seeing a video screen or replay, but the whole story is then contained and transmitted, but it is done on a personal basis rather than on a script basis.

I read somewhere that there are certain levels, if I can say that, at which people actually project a thought on a screen for more of the people in that level so they can see it. Is that true or is it just a figment of someone's imagination?

No, no it is not a figment of anybody's imagination.

It is true then?

It is true that when you get to the higher planes the communication is done in the form that you described except it is not a screen as you perceive it. The screen is within your mind. It is within your being. When you get the great teachings which occur at the upliftment and you get hundreds and thousands of people gathering around to hear the communication from one being, the thought pattern from that one being is transmitted to each and every one who is in the congregation. Each and every one will consider that the talk is directed at them as an individual. But it is only because of the evolution of the being that they have the capacity to transmit in such a way. It is beyond my capacity.

I couldn't comprehend it at this point in time.

I cannot comprehend it because it is beyond my capacity at the moment. I have been a recipient of it so therefore I am aware of it in its form that it is portrayed, but how it is portrayed I'm afraid I cannot tell you because it is not something which I have experienced myself or been able to conduct myself. I have had the misfortune of only being able to conduct on a one to one basis, but I understand that if I allow myself to evolve spiritually in love that I will have the capacity of doing this. This might happen sometime in the eons of time in the future, I do not know, but it is something which does occur. It is wondrous when it does because you can get to an amphitheatre, would be a better way of understanding it, and each one of the hundreds of thousands, millions of people who are there in the audience all receive the message. All receive the love and the teaching which is delivered.
