

Why do we call it Teachings of Spirit?

By Maurice Barbanell 2011

Strange thing is it not, we call our lessons “The Teachings of Spirit”, it is a very strange concept. We say we are given the teachings of spirit and then in the next breathe we tell you, “you are spirit”. You are just as much spirit as we are. Or conversely, we are just as human as you are. But we create the separation, the separation because we are saying that we are delivering the teachings of spirit. By that very statement we have already created a separation and a barrier between the physical material world and the world of spirit. We have created this barrier because if you’re delivering the teachings of spirit you are delivering the teachings of something which is not human. It is problem that I have considered a great deal of time since I left the Earth Plane, considered how we can break down this barrier, this separation between the material world and reality. I haven’t come up with a solution, so if you can come up with a solution I would be really appreciative of it. But you can understand the conundrum that we have. How can we expect there to be a total acceptance of us, a total acceptance of the continuation of life when we immediately put a barrier there. We say that there is a continuation of life. And of course there is after all I’m here. I know there’s a continuation. But you don’t. You have to take my word that I am who I am.

Yes.

I know who I am. You can see the physical body that I occupy. You cannot see the real being within. Not unless you have developed your psychic powers to that stage where you can perceive spirit. Unfortunately there are very few who on the Earth Plane who have. So it is a problem and until we find a solution it will it will remain a problem for me.
