In the Summer Land our Homes reflect the Love we Possess

By Maurice Barbanell 2013

In our home circle we can talk in jest and have a laugh. You can't do that with 90% of the circles and the groups that are around. And it's wonderful to be able to come and just have a chat, like we are now, and that too is something that is almost unique. There aren't many groups where this occurs and there are many circles in your country.

Wonderful isn't it.

Well you should all know that. I mean you have been around and I don't mean that in the terms of the Earth Plane. You have been around a bit though haven't you?

But you think to yourself – I mean I haven't been to other places for a long time so you would assume that they are progressing as well.

Well that shows the folly of your thinking. I mean you only have to go to the churches and you realise how much of a hole that everybody is in. They don't want to move forward. This is the way it's always been done and therefore this is the way it has to be done. And it's jolly boring is it not? And how much – if you actually go round the churches which I have done, I have a greater ability than you obviously – and you actually analyse how much teaching is actually given, it's very small.

A lot of the time is devoted to proving life after, survival and giving flower readings, messages.

Yes all about Aunt Mary and Uncle Joe and you've had messages, from Aunt Mary and Uncle Joe seven times but you go back and you want another one. Therefore it's a bit idiotic is it not?

Maybe they bought another house somewhere.

And you come here and you can't buy houses. That's a bit of a blow to the people with wealth, when they come over here you know. You can't buy a house. You can only live in a house which is in unison with your level of purity. And therefore your mansions do not in essence exist because those who have the capacity, because of the love within their being, to live in a mansion, have no desire to do so, so it's a bit of a ridiculous situation is it not?

When the Nazarene said there are many mansions in my Father's house, people took that literally rather than in the true essence. What he was meaning was that the mansions are the houses which are filled with love and therefore they are bright, they are elevated and they stand out but not because of their size but because of the purity of the being which is contained within.

I don't know if you've ever thought about it, that when our friends who come from the 5th and 6th planes come to the Summerland and live amongst the peoples of the Summerland, do you think they have a residence because their true residence would be in the 5th and 6th plane would it not?

I don't really know whether they actually require a residence. You can dwell or create a temporary one.

I'll answer the question. There is a communal hall, would be the best way to describe it, in which there are many rooms where we can retreat to, to recover because it takes a lot out of our being doing the work that we do and therefore we have the necessity to return, retire, to regenerate.

It's no different to when you live within the Summerland itself. You have no necessity for sleep, because sleep is a requirement of the physical body, not of the astral body. You sleep so as your physical body can recuperate. The main reason why you sleep, is for the recuperation and the regeneration of your physical body. So therefore if you don't have the physical body you don't get tired in the same way that you do on the Earth Plane but you do require rest mentally.

So these places are they there all the time?

They are evolving because obviously if you have a residence in the Summerland and you leave the Summerland there's no need for that residence to exist anymore and therefore it merely dissolves back – into the atmosphere is the best way to put it – because it is created by thought and therefore it can be dissolved by thought.

But there's no one there to sustain it by thought...

There's no reason for it to be there. There's no reason for its existence and if you have no reason for the existence, there would be no point in having it would there? We do not have derelict houses. We only have houses which have residents in them.

They have a function.

Everything has to have a function and if you want to talk about mansions and the magnificent buildings then you go to the Halls of Learning. They are truly magnificent. They would shine a light on any of the establishments that you went to on your trip and you went to some pretty incredible looking establishments did you not?

We certainly did.

Some of the European churches really went over the top did they not?

Oh most definitely.

And even the monasteries. You see there you have the monasteries and the monks were meant to be pious paupers then you look at the accommodation in which the bishops and the archbishops lived. They lived in the height of luxury did they not? It really smites their teaching does it not?
