Why parts of Messages or Talks can be Wrong

By Maurice Barbanell 2013

I'm a bit miffed at the moment because there is such a lot of misinformation going out from what they say is spirit and they are inferring that we are going to have visitations from other spheres and this is happening more and more in so many groups.

I think it's the excitement. They try to incite people.

Yes they think they're going to get little green men coming. I don't look good in green anyway. But it is. They are referring to the lights. They are referring to the beings that are coming and they are transposing those thoughts or those sightings as space ships from other worlds. For pity's sake we don't need spaceships!

In which part of the world is this occurring? In Australia?

No it is more occurring in the Old Country and in America, and in various places in Europe.

Is it because the interest of people has waned so they are trying to excite people?

They are trying to push things to spark people's imagination and to my way of thinking what they are really doing is devaluing the true message which we are trying to get through. But it is happening so often and they consider it is new world teaching. What a lot of poppycock! How do you think we feel when our words are misinterpreted in this way?

You might ask how these teachings can come about when even the utterances of Red Cloud can be twisted. It would be because the mind of the channel that he is using is so much into that sphere that it's very difficult for him to superimpose his thoughts and I just use him as an example. I mean I could use anybody but that is something that people have a great difficulty in understanding that we are utilising a channel. We are utilising a human being and that human being has preconceived ideas and thoughts and it is an unfortunate fact that we cannot interpose our thoughts 100% on to the channel that we are utilising and that is why you can get a diversity in the messages which are coming through even if it's coming through the same guide, the same individual, the same being, if that being is utilising different mediums because the subconscious of the different mediums vary.

That is something that a lot of people would have a problem understanding but they think that well you're utilising the physical 100% and therefore obviously you have to have 100% control of the conscious and subconscious. This I'm afraid to enlighten you does not occur. There is no 100%. That is why we always put a rider in all our teachings that if something doesn't sit right, it doesn't matter who the guide has given the utterance to, ignore it because it could have been influenced by the subconscious of the channel, the medium, which is being utilised. Do you understand?

Makes total sense.

It makes total sense when you think about it because you have a level of enlightenment but 90% of the people who come to our teachings could not fully understand that.

Isn't that part of your free will, your preconceived ideas? And if one is absolute in them it's very hard to shake that off. It must filter through.

And it's very difficult for us to change their thinking because the thinking of the individual is interposed with our thinking and it becomes one big melting pot.

The individual is still an individual.

Yes and that individual interferes with my thinking. That is why we try and utilise mediums who can clear their thoughts which is very difficult to do. Which is why we had to reluctantly agree to delay things until the economic state of your stay in the Earth Plane had been settled and the mundane day to day problems which are associated with work had been removed.

Yes.

Because the interference that it was causing was immense and if we are going to take our message forward and it is to be true and genuine, well then we have to have the purest connection we can get.
