The Earth Plane is a Schoolyard and Connecting to Loved Ones

By Maurice Barbanell 2013

As you know, while our medium is in trance and if we touch you it does not create any problem to our being. It is only a problem if the opposite occurs and we are not expecting it.

We can say that we are truly living in the red light district can we not? (We were using a red light in our circle) We always used the red light you know, in our meetings, in our talks. It helps with the vibration. Do not ask me why because I have no idea. There are a lot of the things in the mechanics of what occurs which are not something that I found an import to my knowledge factor.

You might find that strange but I just accept what I have to do to utilise the power. I accept what I have to do to occupy the physical being. I accept the fact that we have to occupy it in a deep trance state instead of a light trance state which would have been far more comfortable and easy but it was a choice, not my choice, but it was a choice which was granted and therefore we all have to work with it. I dare not complain. I would be chastised greatly would I not?

Harry and Arthur are most disappointed that you are not going to visit their premises while you are in England. They felt that you should at least have done a passing visit. Harry's is a little bit more modest was it not?

I haven't seen Harry's, only pictures on the Internet.

Well I can assure you it was a lot more modest. Not as modest as my unit as you call it. We call them flats do we not, in St John's Wood. That was a lot more modest but it was adequate for my requirements.

It's a strange thing on the Earth Plane, we feel we need so much and really we do not. We feel we need to live in castles. Arthur lived in a castle didn't he? He considered it a modest abode. It all depends upon your point of reference does it not? He was comparing it with the châteaux of France and in comparison with the châteaux of France you could say yes it was modest, but when you compare it to my little abode it was a palace.

On your vacation you will enjoy the countryside. James (our door keeper) will enjoy your trip to Scotland. It's something else that people don't fully understand that even though we have the ability to circumnavigate the Earth Plane at any time it's not something that we do but if one of our charges, one of the people we have connected ourselves with goes, then we take the opportunity to revisit the memories of where we once lived upon the Earth Plane. That's not something a lot of people have considered. They consider that once we are here we still feel the need for the connection for the Earth Plane. They feel that the Earth Plane is the be all and end all. Well it isn't! The Earth Plane is a schoolyard. How often have you returned to your school? Once in your life after leaving? I was going to say or more frequently never. So why should we want to return to our schoolyard? Why should we want to return to the Earth Plane? It is only because the people who we love are there that we elect to return. If we did not have that connection there would be no reason to come back.

We have our own life. We have our own sphere. We have far more beautiful hills, far more beautiful rivers and waterfalls. Sorry, no oceans. So therefore what has the Earth Plane got to offer? It has nothing and that is something that the peoples of the Earth Plane find very difficult to comprehend. They think that the Earth Plane is the be all and end all. Nothing can exist unless it is connected with the Earth Plane. We want to find life on other planets so that we can communicate with them. Come over here and you can communicate with them tomorrow! Not a problem! Why do you find it necessary? It's because your eyes are closed. The people who have those ideas do not have the true perception of the truth of existence. They are limited with their material eyes, their material brains. Even those in the churches, they still have their limited knowledge. They still want to keep all their thoughts within the parameters of the Earth Plane. Where do they think Heaven is! It's not on the Earth Plane. It's elsewhere and if you're going to Heaven why do you want to come back to Hell? Because in comparison that's what the Earth Plane is but having said that it's a very important place but it's very important for the period of time that you are occupying it, or the period of time that you elect to return to the Earth Plane to pass on your knowledge, because if you don't elect to return to the Earth Plane it then becomes a distant memory.

Do you remember where you went to your preschool? Of course you don't! Because it is unimportant to where you are at the moment. It gathers no significance whatsoever does it? And that is what the Earth Plane is. As you advance it diminishes in importance and that's a big thing that the people of the Earth Plane have difficulty in conceptualising. They want to communicate. Why do they want to communicate? To prove that there is life after death, death on the Earth Plane, and then they want to bring those people back to them. If you actually analyse that statement, how cruel are you being? You want to bring them back to hell.

But they don't consider earth as hell.

They are very selfish. They are thinking about themselves and not the people they perceive or say they love, because if you really love somebody you wouldn't want them to return to this dark, cold place would you? You would want them to progress but having said that because they have a love for you they will elect to come back and look after you, but that's their choice. You should allow them to have that choice. So often the people of the Earth Plane have it the wrong way around and they make the choice for them and because there's a love bond between the two, you can actually lock the individual within the bounds of the Earth Plane.

When you analyse that scenario how cruel are you being? But you don't consider that do you? You consider I want my loved one with me. I want he or she to be around whenever I want to talk to them and if they want to be around let it be their choice, not yours. You can talk to them but do not make it a passion, do not make it an emotional bond, an emotional connection. Do you understand the difference? Because if you allow them the choice and they return of their own volition then communication can flow and they will continue on their path but when you need to be connected your mental wavelength is attuned to their mental wavelength, or to be more correct they have attuned themselves to your mental wavelength and if you call they will come and I don't know if you have ever really considered that in the true mechanics of what occurs.

You're at a party, we have parties here you know, and the person whom you have connected with wants to speak to you, they want you to be with them over something which was probably totally insignificant. But because you have elected to do that you leave the party and go to them. Hope I've made you feel guilty. It wasn't my intention but when you analyse it we do feel guilty, we should feel guilty should we not, but don't ever feel guilty because anybody who has elected to have that connection does it willingly.

What is a problem is when a loved one passes over and you hold them back within the confines of the Earth Plane so that they cannot move forward and do the transition. The power of love is immense both in the positive and in the negative way. You can't ever think of love in a negative way can you, but if you analyse it in the manner that I described you can see that your love is negative to somebody else's being. You're in fact being totally selfish. Not that you ever would consider that you are being selfish but you are because you feel an emptiness inside and you want something to fill it. We've all had that feeling have we not? At one time or another. We've all been guilty have we not?
